

Boston Freedom Trail

Normandy Farms Family Camping Resort, Foxboro, MA
October 16-21, 2016

Join FROG in the historic Boston area for a historic fall foliage adventure!

Boston, 1775. More than a year before representatives of the American Colonies gathered in Philadelphia to declare Independence, storm clouds were gathering.

Legislative acts and other slights had created a powder keg. The Boston Massacre in 1770 and the Boston Tea Party 1773 were key events in the prelude to revolution. Ongoing protests and events led to British troops moving to capture rebel leaders and weapons in Lexington and Concord. As immortalized (and somewhat embellished) by Longfellow, word spread “for the country folks to be up and to arm.”

The British troops were met by farmers, the famous Minutemen who were trained and pledged to be ready at a minute’s notice, at the Concord Bridge. There, “The Shot Heard ‘Round the World” changed history forever.

Normandy Farms in Foxboro will be our base for the Freedom Trail adventure. We’ll take a bus tour of Boston and the surrounding area to visit some of the most famous and some lesser-known locations, and will learn about some of the earliest and most important events leading up to the American Revolution.

Our tour will take us to Harvard Square, Faneuil Hall Marketplace (“Quincy Market”), Old North Church, Paul Revere’s home, and more. In addition to exploring parts of the Freedom Trail, we’ll savor the spectacular beauty of autumn in New England. We should be near the peak of the brilliant foliage season.

We’ll enjoy welcome and farewell dinners, a potluck meal, and a continental breakfast one morning.

There will also be free time in the schedule to allow you to explore additional sites in and around Boston as well as the smaller communities nestled in the area.

Only 50 sites are available, so sign up early to get in on the fun!

Your Boston Freedom Trail adventure will include:

- 5 nights of camping at Normandy Farms Camping Resort in Foxboro, Massachusetts
- Welcome dinner
- Farewell dinner
- Potluck dinner or breakfast
- Bus tour of key sites in and around Boston
- Light continental breakfast one morning
